INDEPENDENT CONSULTANT,
NATIONAL VICE PRESIDENT

RACHEL SINCLAIR

EVERY DAY IS A GIFT

Independent Consultant, National Vice President
Rachel Sinclair Nation; Jones, OK

On February 8, 1999 my perspective on life and desires for my future changed drastically as my husband and I welcomed our first child, Jaxon into the world. Up until this point, I was content working as a physical therapist, a career I had aspired to since high school. I loved my career in physical medicine, and I was resigned to the fact that I would be a working mom. I was sure I would be able to balance my family and career, and be fulfilled. Little did I know God had other plans for me.

Along with motherhood came a desperate longing to be home with my son, Jaxon. Our financial situation would not allow me to quit my job, yet all I could think of were all the precious moments and milestone events in Jaxon's life as he grew up that I would miss while working full-time. As this desire intensified, I tried to convince myself that it would pass just so I could continue with my day-to-day routine. Of course, I was just fooling myself to think that I could ever be content again if I did not address how I felt about wanting to be home to raise my son. When I look back, I can see God's master plan unfolding as He began preparing me for a life-changing opportunity.

I started using Arbonne's phenomenal products shortly after I had Jaxon, and was impressed with the improvements in my skin. Soon Deanna Herrin began sharing her plans of building her business while working full-time. Her ultimate goal was to one day be home with her children. I began thinking that this might be an option for me as well. I became a Consultant to get my products at a discount, but the more I thought about it the more excited I became. I officially launched my Arbonne business when Jaxon was 7 weeks old. I had no idea what I was getting myself into, but I jumped in with both feet and never looked back.

I had many fears when I started. I was concerned about what people would think of me and I was terrified of speaking in front of people. Although my fears were great, my reason for building this business was far greater than I even imagined. I realized if I wanted something different from life, I had to do something different. Anything worth achieving will have its challenges along the way. However, a leader will rise above the challenge and press on toward the goal. I am so thankful for the opportunities to overcome my fears and the challenges I have been presented with in my business because they have made me who I am today.

The past four years with Arbonne have not only been a platform of immeasurable personal growth, but tremendous spiritual development, as well. I believe Arbonne was brought into my life for a purpose. Initially, I thought that purpose was to be able to stay home with my children. After promoting to Regional

Vice President last May, I resigned as a physical therapist to be home with my sons, Jaxon and Jantz. It was the best decision I have ever made. However, throughout the past year, I have discovered that the purpose for Arbonne in my life goes way beyond my needs or desires. During my career with Arbonne, I have learned to love people far greater than before. I have learned to serve others in various ways, and I have had many precious opportunities to help others. I have also learned to rest on my faith in all circumstances. This is what Arbonne has become for me and I am grateful.

I have so many to thank for their contributions to my success. First, I want to thank God for His faithfulness, and for blessing me. This opportunity and the amazing people who have been brought into my life are such a blessing. He knew the deep desires of my heart, answered my prayers and guided me throughout this unbelievable journey toward success.

There would not be a Nation without the love and support of my husband, Jack. Thank you for your incredible patience and encouragement over the past four years. You are an amazing dad and I am blessed to have you in my life. I also want to thank my parents for teaching the value of working hard for whatever I wanted out of life. A special thanks to my mom for laying down the foundation of my faith and nurturing it along the way.

Deanna Herrin: You are my dearest friend and I would not be where I am today without you in my life. You have empowered me in various ways and you have coached and prayed for me through many difficult situations. Thank you for your unwavering belief in me. I love you and cherish our friendship. Cecilia Stoll: You too have been a significant mentor to me. You have inspired me to overcome my fears and to strive to reach my maximum potential. I value our friendship and love you dearly.

To Regional Vice Presidents, Gena Money and Kristy Murrow: Thank you for your leadership and commitment to our team. Gena: Your passion and creativity are amazing. Kristy: You are a perfect example of perseverance and integrity. I love you both and treasure our friendships. A special thank you goes out to all my Area Managers. Kendra Katter: You have the most loving, caring spirit of anyone I know. Denise Anderson: You are developing into an incredible leader and taking Texas by storm! Kelly Sovereign: You are such a sweet person and I have really enjoyed building a friendship with you. Shelly Whitekiller: You inspire me with your willingness to conquer your fears and do whatever it takes to help our team. Malinda Rowe: You always make me laugh and you will go far with your servant heart. Julie Lackner: Your courage inspires me, and I am so proud of you for building an awesome team in Montana. Chris Rolling: Your willingness to give of yourself and determination to make things happen will take you all the way to the top! I love and appreciate each one of you and cannot wait for you to get your Mercedes-Benz! A tremendous thank you goes to our team of District Managers — your journey has just begun.

To succeed in life you must believe in yourself, be committed to your dream and lead with a servant heart. Life is too short not to live abundantly. So embrace Arbonne's opportunity to live your dreams and realize your potential! When you love and give of yourself to others in such a way that you empower them to reach their maximum potential in life, you will be fulfilled beyond your wildest imagination!
